

 Spread Your Wings

By: Annie Koh

Once upon a time. In a far away universe, was Lalaland. There lived dragons, unicorns, fairies, goblins, trolls, pegasus', and more creatures. In the Unicorn World there is a baby unicorn princess. She is a rainbow colored and has wings. Also she is heir to the throne. There is also another world full with dragons. The dragons are evil and foes with the Unicorns. So they planned to rule the unicorn world by stealing the baby unicorn princess. So they jotted down a plan.

Meanwhile, the Unicorns had no idea of the unimap plan. So they were singing and dancing. They were having fun with their friends. Then, without warning some dark clouds came. The Unicorns knew it was a sign of danger.

Then, suddenly objects were swooping in the air. "They are trying to get the princess!" Said a unicorn. The baby princess was hidden well, but not hidden well enough.

Long ago Unicorns and the Dragons used to be allies and had a map of each other's worlds. One day they had a fight and said that they would burn their maps in a meeting. The Dragons made a fake copy and tricked the Unicorns to burn the fake map. The Dragons knew they would need it in the future and they did.

The Dragons knew where they were going. They just grabbed the princess and flew away.

The next day the Unicorns planned a mission to rescue the princess and attacking. After two days the Unicorns grabbed their weapons and tools, also they took off with brave and faithful hearts.

When they arrived at the Dragons world it was dark and gloomy. They were in their positions, until the King heard a crack. He looked over and saw a unicorn laying on the ground with pain.

Others unicorns were helping the crippled unicorn. With madness the King charged through the trees into the Dragons Kingdom. Uniknights behind the King with their horns in the air.

Meanwhile, the rescue team searched for the princess. They avoided Dragons, and galloping through hallways. Finally after searching for a long time the rescue team found a end with a entrance.

They knew that this is the room where they are keeping the princess. They just knew.

The rescue team attacked the guarding Dragons. They busted the door. With their surprise their was another door with a two Dragons guarding it. The two Dragons charged at the rescue team. The unicorns dodged. They attacked the Dragons and survived.

They were getting ready just in case there was another door and with their surprise they saw the princess in a cage crying. Unfortunately there was a huge lock.

"Great," said one of the Unicorns.

"Wait," said another, "we brought the master of lock picking."

A young unicorn came in front of the team and started picking the lock with his horn.

Click. The lock popped off and the lock picker opened the cage. They grabbed the princess. They turned around about to go, but then there was thumping that shook the ground. The team heard neighing that was painful. They heard clangs and screeching. Then, the thumping sound was coming closer. The team was in attack position. Then, there was one loud screech. The thumping had stopped.

Then, a shadow came around the corner.

The rescue team was guarding the princess as the shadow came around the corner. The object was facing them. It was a..... Unicorn? Well the Unicorns didn't really know what it was at the moment, but they figured it out. It was Miss. Layla. She is a Pegasus with bright colored wings. "Come on guys the Dragons are near," she said. The rescue team and Miss. Layla galloped through the hallways.

They were just about to go out the entrance, but there was a big Dragon in front of them. He was bigger and looks tougher than the other Dragons. It was the King Dragon.

"Hand over the princess!" He said with his deep voice. "Never!" Shouted the Unicorns.

The King Dragon got mad, he roared with furiousness. The Unicorns and Miss. Layla knew they had to run, but they couldn't. Dragons were behind them, in front of them, and beside them.

Just then Miss. Layla got an idea. She could fly them out of here. Since she was a big Pegasus, she could carry all of the Unicorns. She just had to figure out what language she can tell the Unicorns her idea without the Dragons knowing. Then, it popped into her head, gnomish language! So she said, "I can fly you guys out of here," in gnomish. The Unicorns grabbed on tight to Miss. Layla. Miss. Layla flapped her wings as hard as she could.

With all the extra weight Miss. Layla had trouble flying. Fortunately, they got out of the hallway they were trapped in. They hid then flew, hid then flew. They kept on doing that until they arrived at Unicorn World.

A few days later the Dragons surrendered to the Unicorns. So the war ended.

A few years later after the war Princess Clara grew. She was like the best rose out of a whole bunch, but she didn't consider she was the best. She is selfless, brave, kind, smart, and honest. Her father, King Unicess, died from the war. So she was just with her mom. She didn't know that the Dragons stole her. She did know about her being heir to the kingdom. She had training everyday, but she wanted to explore other worlds. Her mother Lady Una was not pleased.

Clara wanted to go so bad that she might of ran away. She couldn't because her coronation was in a few days. Still she always went to the Unicorn Library to read about other worlds.

A few days past by, it was Princess Clara's coronation. She was crowned by no choice of hers. Queen Clara didn't really wanted to be treated like a queen. So she told the whole world to treat her like a normal Unicorn. Still the world respects her like a queen.

When Queen Clara grew older she started traveling to other worlds. When she was traveling she made a friend, his name was Yoner. He was also a Unicorn that is smart, nice, and handsome. They both liked to travel, so they traveled together. Everyday their connection grew and grew. Yoner knew he was in love with her, so he proposed to her. Queen Clara said "yes." They both went to Queen Clara's kingdom and announced their marriage to everybody.

Lady Una insisted marrying Unibrow a strong and fierce knight. Clara refused on marrying him. Lady Una gave up on encouraging her daughter to marry Unibrow.

The next day queen Clara and King Yoner got married. They were very happy and so were the other unicorns. They rejoiced all week long.

A few years later Queen Clara gave birth to a set of girl twins. They grew healthy and strong. So the one big family lived happily ever after.

About the Author

